

HUNDREDS LINE UP AT WRIGLEY FIELD FOR JOBS

Hundreds of people looking for work stood in a line that stretched for blocks outside Wrigley Field. The Chicago Cubs hosted a job fair on Saturday. The team is looking to hire several hundred people for seasonal and part-time employment. Jobs include cashiers, kitchen supervisors and maintenance workers. Mike Greco, food and beverage director for the Cubs, says some people brought chairs and lined up overnight for the chance to put in applications. Wrigley Field is a baseball stadium in Chicago, Illinois, that has served as the home ballpark of the Chicago Cubs since 1916.
