

BE POSITIVE TO YOUR SENIORS

At this point you might ask: What if your interviewer answers your redirect question and then returns to the discussion of your weakness? That, unfortunately, is his prerogative! But it's also yours to try to move him away to a safer topic with another question after answering his. Never deny your interviewer a short, non defensive, honest answer to his question. But don't wait like a sitting duck for him to probe further into an area when you've given him your best answer. That's tempting fate! Read More at EmploymentCrossing

<https://blog.granted.com/>