

MAKE A LIFE WHILE MAKING A LIVING

If your job doesn't allow much calendar and clock freedom, you may find yourself fighting for every moment of free time you get. It helps if you can clarify your needs (and your employer's expectations) soon after you're hired. Then, once you've agreed on a schedule, you won't have to justify your actions every time you leave at 5 P.M. or don't come in on the weekends. Read More at EmploymentCrossing

<https://blog.granted.com/>