

WALKER TO APPEAL LOWER COURT RULING AGAINST WISCONSIN LAW RESTRICTING UNION RIGHTS

In what may likely be a temporary victory for public unions in the state of Wisconsin, a Dane County judge declared that Governor Scott Walker's restrictions to the collective bargaining rights of specific government employees (Act 10) are unconstitutional. The court's decision is not the last word on this politically charged topic.

Read the full article here:

Walker to appeal lower court ruling against Wisconsin law restricting union rights

<https://blog.granted.com/>