

MORE ADVERTISED JOB OPENINGS BY US EMPLOYERS

Help wanted listings are on the rise in the United States of America. These are the results of a comparison of the numbers from September to October. The 3.68 million jobs listed figure is still lower than the four million jobs available figure that was current before the start of the recession in 2007. It is estimated that there are 3.3 people competing for each job.

Read the full article here:

US employers advertising more job openings - KARE

<https://blog.granted.com/>