
BELDEN CUTS 45 VIRGINIA JOBS

Electronic components maker Belden will close its Midlothian, Virginia manufacturing plant by July, cutting 45 positions. In December Belden announced 1,800 job cuts worldwide, 20% of its global work force. The Virginia facility's work, which includes making connectors and components for industrial-automation applications, will be transferred to a Tijuana, Mexico plant.

<https://blog.granted.com/>