JERSEY TEENS SEEK SUMMER JOBS

More than 100 teenagers attended yesterday's summer job fair at the Woodbridge, New Jersey Community Center. Most who attended the event will get a six-week summer job with the township's Department of Recreation. Between 80 and 90 jobs are available. Applicants who were 18 or older applied for the township's summer camp positions. Applicants 16 or 17 applied for the 30 available playground counselor positions. No one under 16 was accepted. There were also some supervisor and tennis instructor positions. All applicants were interviewed after they presented their application and two forms of identification.
