

SOCIAL MEDIA INFLUENCING RECRUITMENT SERVICES

There is no doubt that social networking websites such as Facebook and Twitter are playing a critical role in our lives today. Unsurprisingly, social media has started influencing a range of recruitment services, with employers relying on Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn - in that order - to trace their potential candidates. In fact, these social networking sites enable recruiters to take on-the-spot decisions after viewing the candidates on social networking pages. Read the full article here:
