
CANNONDALE CUTTING 200 PENNSYLVANIA JOBS

Dorel Industries, the manufacturer of Cannondale bicycles, is cutting 200 manufacturing jobs at a Pennsylvania facility. The Bedford plant, which will no longer manufacture bike frames, will shrink to 100 workers by the end of 2010. The bicycle frames will be manufactured at a facility in Taiwan. Dorel says workers in Bedford will shift their focus to bicycle assembly, machining, testing, warranty repair and more. Montreal-based Dorel bought Cannondale last year.

<https://blog.granted.com/>