PITTSBURGH MAYOR TO CREATE TEEN SUMMER JOBS

The mayor of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania wants to hire at least 500 young people at $7.25 an hour this summer, to do jobs like cleaning up litter and planting flowers. Mayor Luke Ravenstahl wants to spend $1.5 million in federal economic stimulus funds and block grants for the city's Summer Youth Employment Program. The six-week summer program for city residents aged 14 to 21 runs from July 6th to August 14th.
