

LAYOFFS STILL PENDING AT HP'S AUTONOMY UNIT IN UK

"Reading Is Not Believing" Always! If you read some disturbing news in the Daily Mail, please relax. As opposed to what you read, Hewlett-Packard's U.K.-based Autonomy software unit is not sending 200 employees home as a staff-trimming measure, but less than 70 people consisting mostly of sales personnel, are likely to lose their jobs at the UK's software subsidiary.

Read the full article here:

Yes, There Are Layoffs Pending at HP's Autonomy Unit in the U.K.

<https://blog.granted.com/>