

SANDUSKY FIREFIGHTERS GET REPRIEVE FROM LAYOFFS

From layoffs Sandusky firefighters get reprieve. For the next 10 months the Department of Homeland Security recently allowed city officials to parlay unspent funds from a $1 million grant. The grant covered just two years of pay for six workers. Paul Ricci Sandusky chief stated that he didn't hire six firefighters at once when he obtained the grant in March 2011 and he also said that through December 2013 the balance of $546,000 will maintain current staffing.
