

TOP TEN SALES JOBS IN KENTUCKY

Kentucky is located in the eastern central part of the United States. In 2006, this state produced around $146 billion for the country which was the 27th highest in the nation. The state is famous for its machinery, transportation equipment, electric equipment, chemical products, tourism, coal, food processing and tobacco products.

The most productive coals mines of the country are located in Eastern Kentucky Coal fields. The state also has a good industry of trucks and automobile assembling. In fact a lot of cars like the Chevrolet Corvette and the Cadillac XLR are also assembled in this state.

There is also a good scope of sales jobs in Kentucky. Here is a list.

Advertising Sales

If you are looking for sales employment in Kentucky then you can surely try out advertising sales jobs in London, Louisville and Bowling Green.

Automotive Sales

This as I have already said is an ever expanding area in the state. Places like Louisville and Lexington have companies which can offer you with jobs in this arena.

Food/Beverage Sales

Kentucky has one of the largest industries for food processing. In fact the state also has agricultural outputs of corn, soybeans, hogs, dairy products, horses, cattle and tobacco. This has given rise to a good market for the sale of these products. You can get jobs as sales personnel even in supermarkets that sell these products.

Computer Sales

This is a very popular sales work in Kentucky. You can look for opportunities for computer sales as an independent salesman in areas like Bowling Green, London, Lexington and Louisville.

Engineering Sales

To do this kind of Kentucky sales jobs, you will need to have a degree in engineering. This kind of job requires you to custom fit appliances for customer needs. You can look for engineering sales jobs in London, Lexington, Louisville and Bowling Green.

Financial Sales

This kind of job can get you the position of a national sales executive or financial advisor. You also get good commission. The base salary for this kind of job starts around at $60,000 in this state. If you are into insurance and financial schemes, then this is your chance to get a job like this.

Healthcare Sales

A lot of healthcare companies have opened their branches in Kentucky. This has provided the scope for sales employment in Kentucky in these fields. Praxair and Benefit Copilot are some of the companies which are the major employers in this field.

Industrial Sales

If you are looking for industrial sales jobs in the state, then you might well end up being the General Sales Manager. There is a dearth of sales managers in this field and companies have recently launched a massive hiring program to meet this demand.

Internet Sales

This kind of job is very convenient as you can do it right from home. Office work is also available. If you want to make money within a very short amount of time and still not having to leave your state, you can always look for internet sales jobs in places like London, Louisville and Lexington.

Printing Sales

If you are into the world of printing, you can also engage in printing sales jobs in Kentucky.

So what are you waiting for? Sales jobs in Kentucky have seen a boom after the recession has passed so get one for yourself today!

<https://blog.granted.com/>